

MEXICANS IN TEXAS.

A Hostile Movement on This Side the Rio Grande.

WAR CRY ON THE BORDER.

Two Texas Towns in the Hands of the Mexicans.

Special Correspondence Bureau.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7.—7 p. m.
The news published this morning, that a Mexican mob had taken possession of the two Texas towns of Yuleta and San Elizario, has been confirmed by more recent dispatches, and intense excitement prevailed not only in this city, but in Galveston, Mobile and New Orleans, and indeed, all over the Southwest, where the intelligence of this daring and desperate enterprise has penetrated. The Mexicans threaten to all the white inhabitants of all the principal towns along the Rio Grande. The mob already on this side the river is variously estimated at from four to six hundred men. They are the desperadoes who have so long kept the frontier in a turmoil of excitement. The aiders and abettors of every lawless raid, and the motive which actuates them now is REVENGE AND PLEASURE.

PUT TO DEATH

They have already arrested the local officials of Yuleta and San Elizario and a number of people in El Paso county. A Galveston News dispatch from Fort Davis dated at 2 o'clock this afternoon says that six men have already been murdered by the desperadoes. The troops now operating on the border are widely scattered, and are unable under any circumstances to cope with any large bands of

ORGANIZED MARAUDERS.
It is believed that the uprising has been projected by the partisans of Cortina to face a conflict between the two countries, and with a view of complicating the difficulties which surround Diaz. The arrest of Judge Charles H. Howard against whom the lawless Mexicans have an especial spite, enlists in the enterprise, all the resident Mexicans of El Paso, as well as desperadoes from the other side of the river.

OFFICIAL ACCOUNT OF THE UPRISING.
ST. LOUIS, TEXAS, Oct. 6.—Adjutant General Taylor, San Antonio: I am requested by Judge Blaker to send the following: The Mexican population of El Paso have risen en masse and seized all the civil authorities, including District Judge Howard and McBride, Sheriff, and hold them all prisoners in jail, guarded. The riotous number about 400, are armed, and have scouts and pickets out and sentinels posted regularly. They seem to be well organized. The Americans in the country (about thirty) are in peril. No American is allowed to communicate with a prisoner. The rioters expect to be aided by volunteers from the Mexican side of the river. The trouble arose from Judge Howard leaving for his father-in-law's home on Sunday. The Sheriff has escaped. Col. Hatch is expected in El Paso soon. The call is for at least two companies, with artillery. I have at this post, all told, 123 fighting men. (Signed.) ANDREWS.

ANOTHER SPECIAL.
To the News to-night from Austin reads: The Governor received the following dispatch to-night from Mesilla: Four hundred armed and organized Mexicans have possession of El Paso county. One hundred or more are from the Mexican side of the Rio Grande District. Judge Howard, County Judge Garsha, Justice of the Peace H. Garcia and the Sheriff were arrested by the mob. The County Judge and Justice consented to resign their offices. Howard was kept four days, then sentenced to be shot, but was saved by the intervention of a priest. Howard was released on condition that he would leave the country and never return. He arrived here to-day and will return tomorrow with a detachment of soldiers. The mob threatens to massacre all Americans in El Paso. The situation is threatening. Many of the mob.

PROMINENT CITIZENS HAVE FLED.
The authorities are powerless to assist them. A large force will be recruited to restore order and enforce the law. There are no troops in this section, except the few who start for El Paso on Sunday. Prompt action will be required to save life and property. (Signed.) A. J. FOUNTAIN.

Foundation is reliable, was a prominent State Senator under Republican rule in Texas, knows the situation thoroughly, lives immediately on the Rio Grande, speaks Spanish and English, and has a Mexican woman for a wife. Gov. Hubbard has called upon him for help. The Governor thinks the action of the mob is inspired by the general hostility to Americans now raging on the frontier.

THE TRUE INVADERS OF IT.
Coville Democrat: Some of the papers have a good deal to say by way of derision, of the appointment of D. A. Armstrong of St. Louis, as Senator, vice Bay, lately deceased. This we think is copied, because some special favorite of theirs failed to get the appointment, then from any real cause, for Col. Armstrong, while not a brilliant man is certainly a man of great common sense and intelligence, and one of the most indomitable workers in the state; and we predict that he will represent the state in the United States Senate with more credit to himself, and benefit to the people than most of the brilliant men of our day, from the fact that he is eminent, practical and will leave no want of his constituents unsatisfied.

Suicide at Council Bluffs.
Thursday morning, Miss Carrie Challege committed suicide at Council Bluffs. The young lady was apparently twenty years of age, and a very beautiful girl. She had been reared by her parents in the east, who were quite comfortably situated, and she never was brought up to hardships. Her father died and through some misunderstanding she was sent out to the world penniless. She came west, and hired out to a private family to work, but not being educated to hard labor, she was totally unfit for the duties she had agreed to do. Being coming downhearted and discouraged, she took poison and killed herself.

Dr. Bull's cough syrup is fast taking the place of all the old-fashioned cough remedies. It never fails to relieve the most violent cold, and for throat diseases it is invaluable. Price, 25 cents.

A BIT OF SHARP PRACTICE.

A Wife Bidding Against Her Husband.

Mr. and Mrs. S. were anxiously looking around among real estate dealers for a vacant lot upon which to build, at an early day. Mr. S. interviewed an agent of one of the principal property-holders in this city, and made an offer for a certain lot, and tried to get a positive answer. The agent wanted a day or two in which to ascertain the views of another party who had been talking of purchasing this very piece of property. Meanwhile, Mrs. S. not knowing that her husband had been trying to negotiate for the building site upon which they had mutually agreed to build if they could buy it, approached Mr. A. the agent, and offered a sum which was below that which Mr. S. had proposed to give. "But," said Mr. A., "I have been offered more than that, and only yesterday," whereupon Mrs. S. increased her bid, to a sum a amount more than her husband had offered. Mr. A. thought he saw a chance to drive a sharp bargain, and refused to let her know whether he would or would not accept her terms. The next day Mr. S. called to see what Mr. A. thought about the matter, and was told with reluctance that "there was another party who was anxious to get that lot, and had offered him so much for it." Upon this Mr. S. increased his offer beyond the opposing and unknown would-be purchaser. Mr. A. agreed to let him know the next day, and quietly waited for Mrs. S. Before long she came, and was told that there was a gentleman who was very anxious to get that lot, and had offered him a certain amount which was over the price she had named. The lady very naturally did not propose to lose the property, especially as she knew Mr. S. favored buying the same, and she thought her husband would be disappointed should they now fail in getting it, and besides her heart was now fairly set upon getting possession of that very lot, and made an offer beyond any yet received by Mr. A. who promised to let her know soon. Mr. S. next appeared on the scene, and was informed of the amount offered by the "other party" and at once went $50 better, thinking that his wife was in favor of buying it and he would rather give a little more, than disappoint her, and became so anxious about it that he gave a positive promise from Mr. A. he put on another $100, and closed the bargain and went home triumphantly to communicate the good news to his wife. They obtained possession of the coveted premises, and will undoubtedly enjoy the same.

OUT IN THE WEST.

The Sad Experience of Two Young People in the Storm.

It is very pleasant to attend church, and duty and inclement run remarkably well together when a youth can discharge this religious duty in company with his sweetheart. But it is ill-advised to trust too much to luck, and go out on dark, rainy, stormy night, as a young couple did Sunday evening. It is useless to give the names, and the Bazoos only undertake to RECOVER THE INCIDENT.
A young gentleman and lady returning from church last night, slipped from the sidewalk at the corner of the alley between Ninth and Tenth streets on Ohio street, and rolled into the ditch. The rain had been pouring down all day and the drain was full of water and mud of that consistency, which spreads all over. They were walking along arm in arm when the accident occurred, and the young lady avers that she pulled her after him. Her screams and frantic exertions to escape had no effect. He clung to her and together they rolled heels over head into the muddy ditch. When they emerged from the involuntary ducking their plight was caution to young people who give too much attention to sentiment and not enough to their footsteps.

ON RAINY NIGHTS.
The Bazoos suggest by way of caution that on such occasions it would be advisable to carry lanterns. Two or three such accidents as this will have a tendency to make sparkling Sunday nights a little bit monotonous.

The Spencer Family Murderers Brought to the Court.

Recent disclosures have been made in connection with the murder of Lewis Spencer and his four children in Clark County, Mo., in August last, which confirm the suspicion that William James, the brother-in-law, and Elijah Spencer, brother of the murdered man, are the guilty parties. Saturday, warrants were issued for their arrest and to-day the Sheriff of Clark county, with a posse of men proceeded to their homes, in the vicinity of the tragedy, and took them into custody. They were brought to Kahoka, Mo., and lodged in the county jail, there to await trial, which will probably take place during the present term of the Circuit Court, which is now in session there. It is not known what the fresh evidence is which led to the arrest. It was accomplished in a quiet way and without creating any excitement in that locality. The parties offered no resistance.

The Pacific Road.

During the past week the resources of the Pacific road has been taxed to its utmost capacity in conveying the people of the great West to and from the Fair at St. Louis. At least 5,000 persons have been transported each way, making 10,000 both ways—and not an Eastern bound train behind time, and only two Western bound trains behind, the schedule time, and those only forty minutes late, caused by a wet rail. This demonstrates the fact that the road is in an admirable fix and managed with a tact and judgment second to none in the country. In transporting this large number of people not an accident occurred of any kind to one of the passengers or employees—hence the Bazoos commend the road and its management to the public.

The Champion Hog.

Thos. Griffin, living three miles east of Appleton City, has the champion hog. The leviathan is two years, eight months, and twenty-three days old, measures nine feet, six inches and a half in length, girth, six feet, height, three feet, seven inches, and weighs 1,121 pounds. Who can beat this product of St. Clair county.

Mildness conquers—and hence it is that the gentle yet positive influence of Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup overcomes so quickly the disorders of babyhood. Price, 25 cents.

INDIAN FIGHT.

Gen. Miles Has a Battle with the Nez Percés—A Terrible Slaughter Among the Soldiers—Famous Chiefs Killed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—The following dispatch from Gen. Miles was received by me here, at 11 o'clock this morning:
HEADQUARTERS DISTRICT OF YELLOWSTONE, (COLUMBIAN RIVER-PACIFIC MOUNTAINS, October 3, 1877.)

Gen. A. H. Terry, commanding department of Idaho:
GENERAL:—This command moved rapidly to Snake Creek, striking the fresh trail of the hostile Nez Percés coming out of the Bear Paw mountains, at 7 o'clock, the 20th. Met and surprised the camp at 8 o'clock, capturing the larger part of their herd, about 600 horses, mules and ponies.

THE ENGAGEMENT
was quite severe and the enclosed is a list of our killed and wounded: The Indians lost seventeen killed, including Looking Glass and Joseph's brother, and three other chiefs, and forty wounded.

Joseph gave me his solemn pledge yesterday that he would surrender, but did not, and they are evidently waiting for aid from other Indians. They say that the Sioux are coming to their aid. They are in some deep ravines, and kept under fire. To take them by assault would cost many lives. I may wear them out and eventually compel them to give up. They fight with more desperation than any Indians I have ever met. I believe there are many escaped villains in the village who expect to be long when caught. I believe there is communication between this camp and Sitting Bull, and I have used every effort to prevent a junction.

I am expecting the companies with Sturgis, and will then endeavor to send the second cavalry company to Benton. I presume you do not wish them withdrawn. When surrounding the Nez Percés camp I intend to send my mounted to the Missouri and captured stock to the Yellowstone. I would respectfully suggest that information be sent to the British authorities to prevent any portion of the Nez Percés true crossing the line, or to disarm them should they take refuge on English soil. Can supplies be sent up the Milk river road for the second cavalry? Please send me any information or orders that should govern my movements. Very respectfully,
NELSON A. MILLS,
Col. 5th Inf'y, and Deput. Maj. U. S. A., Com.

A HORRIBLE SUICIDE.

How a Cooper County Wife Brought Ended His Career.

A terrible suicide is reported from Pigeon, in Cooper county. A man named Fisher had been arrested for wife-beating, taken to the house of a neighboring farmer named Brown, and placed under guard. During the night Fisher walked into an adjoining room, and having procured a gun, placed the muzzle against his left temple and fired, blowing his head completely off, and scattering his brains all over the wall.

A Fatal Casualty.

There comes the particulars of a mournful tragedy from Pickering, which adds another to the long list of accidents resulting from the careless handling of fire-arms. A correspondent of the Bazoos writes that Mr. John Flora, a prominent citizen and well-to-do farmer of that section, was preparing to kill a hog, and blowing into the gun to see if it was loaded, his foot slipped from the hammer, and the gun was discharged, the bullet penetrating his mouth and ranging into the brain. The victim was one of the best men in the country, and the sad accident has occasioned universal sorrow in the community.

Large Peaches.

Mr. John Donahoe, an enterprising farmer and fruit grower in Pettit county, two miles south of Dresden, has left at this office six enormous peaches, of the Heath variety. They are the finest seen in this city during the season.

Singular Accident.

A Mr. Perry, living in Lawrence county, met with quite a serious accident last week. He was hauling a load of hay, when he fell off, as did a pitchfork, striking on the end of the handle, the other part sticking Mr. Perry in the abdomen.

Assaulted with an Axe.

Constable Conners arrested, Sunday night, Wm. Calhoun, charged by Jas. W. Stiles with assault upon him with an axe. He was taken to jail, where he remained until this afternoon, when he was retained before Justice Clark. The case is now going on in the Justice's court.

Hockaday Exonerated.

The St. Louis Journal will probably read with pleasure the announcement that in the Circuit Court at Chillicothe, when the suit of Morse, asking that the Hannah and St. Joseph road be placed in the hands of a receiver, was taken up, Wells Henderson, the attorney for the plaintiff, in open court retracted the charge of corruption made in the petition against ex-Attorney Hockaday. He states that after a rigorous examination into General Hockaday's connection with the road he found nothing whatever to justify in the least degree such a charge against him. He expressed his sincere gratification in making this public avowal of his belief in General Hockaday's integrity and purity of character, both as an attorney or public official and as a citizen.

—Prejudice often rules in the physical treatment of babies. They are allowed to suffer and scream with pain from colic, flatulence, bowel disorders, etc., when some simple, reliable and safe remedy, as Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup, would give almost immediate relief and perfect ease to the little sufferer. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Missouri Grangers.

BOONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 6.—The farmers of Central Missouri are jubilant from the fact that the State Grange, now in session at St. Louis, has accepted Col. J. L. Stephens' offer of the use of his hall as their permanent office. The citizens of Booneville can assure the grange that they will never regret so wise a selection.

—A lady in our neighborhood who had suffered for over three months the most excruciating torture by a violent cough, has become completely cured by Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

GIFT FROM THE DEAD.

His Soul to Heaven and His Body to the Doctors—A Dying Man's Bequest.

Yesterday Dr. J. R. Neale, a prominent physician of this city, was not a little startled by receiving through the post office a letter from J. H. Dunden, offering his body for dissection. The letter stated that the writer was in a dying condition, at the boarding house of Alderman McEnroe's, in East Sedalia, where after death he could be found. It appears from the letter that the writer has been afflicted for a number of years with an incurable disease. He has tried in turn the best physicians of Cincinnati, Louisville and St. Louis, and for a large part of that time has been

AN ISMATE OF HOSPITALS.

But nowhere has he derived any benefit from their successive treatments. At last by the advice of St. Louis physicians he determined to try the effect of a practice common, and over a year ago came to Sedalia. Since then he has worked as a day laborer, to use his own expression "at the hardest kind of work." At first he grew better, and the hemorrhage which had previously been of frequent occurrence ceased. But his condition otherwise was not greatly improved. But two weeks ago his lungs commenced bleeding again and he found himself tormented with excruciating pains. Although the letter does not say so in direct terms, it leaves the impression that he means to seek relief from the

AGONY IN DEATH.

"I have come to the conclusion that I would get rid of it some way." He then said: "For the sake of suffering humanity, I give my body up to you and the other doctors of Sedalia to examine it as they think proper for the purpose of discovering the cause of my long suffering."

The letter reached the doctor's hands Monday evening, and he at once hunted up some of his brother physicians, with a view of visiting the writer, to see if anything could be done to relieve his suffering. He did not get any one, however, to accompany him, and the matter was suffered to lay over until this morning, when at an early hour a messenger was dispatched to East Sedalia, to discover the condition of the dying man, and inquire into the circumstances of the case. It was very natural that the doctor

SIGLED FEEL DEEPLY.

the solemn condition of the unfortunate man, who while in the very agony of death, could yet have a yearning compassion for humanity, and as willing to surrender his body to the dissecting knife as a possible means of relieving the ravages of a disease similar to his own. The messenger was therefore instructed to to hurry back, that the doctor might hasten to him, and do what was yet left in his power to smooth his way to the grave. It is not the intention of the Bazoos to attempt to depict the doctor's anxiety during the interval in which these inquiries were made. The word had gone abroad among his professional brethren, and the doctors began to assemble in little groups on the street corners discussing with words of learned length and Latin sound, the diagnosis of the disease. Even an ordinary observer it was evident that some thing unusual was up.

A reporter who stopped for a single moment abreast of one of these excited groups, ascertained that the subject of interest was the most scientific method of dissection. One of them contended that the limbs should all be taken off before the knife was applied to the trunk. "The thing could be got at so much better," Another claimed to have the best set of instruments in the city, and he had just finished putting them for this express occasion. Just at this moment however, the messenger was seen coming down Ohio street, on his return from East Sedalia. For a single instant an awe-struck silence fell upon the doctors, and then, by a sort of convulsive movement they gathered around the messenger.

IN APPLE-PIE ORDER.

"He's gone!"

"Dead?" the doctors exclaimed in a breath.
"No."
"What! left the town?"
"No."
"Well, well, speak out man. Don't you see we are impatient?"
"He ain't there—he never was there."
"And the letter to Dr. Neale was—?"
"All a hoax."

Twenty Days in a Deserted Shaft.

John News: Over three weeks ago a gentleman living in the Third Ward missed a pony, and after a long search, gave it up for stolen. Twenty days after the loss of the animal a number of children were playing near some old deserted shaft, when upon looking into one about six feet deep, a horse reduced to a mere skeleton was found. Their discovery was soon made known and in a few minutes a number of miners collected at the spot and soon had the poor animal on top of the ground. The person who had lost his pony as long before recognized his property in the emaciated animal before him. For twenty days had the animal been in that shaft without food and water and from appearances it could not have held out for many more.

It had eaten all the hair from its sides and tail, which, if any, was all the nourishment it had got during that long period. After being taken out it commenced to eat, though it could scarcely stand on its feet. The animal is gaining rapidly in flesh and will soon be as strong as usual as before its strange adventure.

Senator Armstrong.

The Lebanon Eagle, one of the staunchest and most outspoken democratic newspapers in this state, has this to say of the new Senator:
"For rugged courage, indomitable perseverance and unshaken fidelity to his convictions of right, he has no superior in the State. Inheriting in a large degree the blunt and fearless outspoken disposition of his Highland ancestry, he will never be found double dealing. He is a Democrat and, with his nature, he could be nothing but a straight, out-and-out Democrat. In all party votes in the Senate, he will be found with the Democracy. He is in accord with the West and South on the silver question, the railroad interest, the tariff question, and, indeed, everything else that goes to make up a real Western Democrat. Senator Cockrell will have an energetic co-worker, and Missouri will have a Senator, who will not flatter great speeches, but who will work perseveringly and willingly for all its interests."

EXCITEMENT AT WARRENSBURG.

A Daring Attempt to Rob a Merchant—Two Villains Make a Hasty Departure—Singular Incidents of the Chase.

About 8 o'clock Saturday night, says the Warrensburg News, an attempt was made by two persons to rob Mr. J. L. Moody, of that city. One of the robbers entered his store, and presenting a double-barreled shotgun at his head, demanded his money. The other kept guard at the door. Quick as thought Mr. Moody dodged under the counter and yelled murder at the top of his voice. This was more than the men bargained for, and they fled precipitately. The citizens of the town heard Mr. Moody's cries, and rushed to his assistance, but in the meantime the

ROBBERIES WERE GONE.

Pursuit was instituted, which led in a northwest direction, but owing to the darkness, was abandoned until the next morning. Being resumed at daylight, the trail was easily traced. About a mile and a half from town two dead horses were found which the thieves had shot, and which circumstance led to the belief that they were part of the gang of horse-thieves which have recently stolen eight or ten horses in Henry county. The pursuit was kept up, however, to the Blackwater, when the two thieves were seen crossing, but the road was too dark to warrant the party in following. So they got away. The two men who attempted to rob Mr. Moody are brothers, Taylor and Greeley Crawford, of Johnson county. One of them has been in custody of the officers, and still wears handcuffs on his arms, the connecting chain having been filed in two. The News says the pursuit will be kept up, and by this time it is possible that the thieves are in custody.

A LARGE YIELD.

One Hundred and Forty Bushels of Corn to the Acre.

Within the past two or three weeks some marvelous crops have been gathered in Central Missouri. In most cases they have been raised with a view to exhibit at the Fair, and several times premiums have been granted to enormous yields. These, however, have been mostly from single acres of ground, which had the advantage of special care of cultivation, as in the case of Mr. Taylor, of Lee's county, who grew

ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY BUSHELS

on a single acre, or of Mr. Collins, in the same county, who gathered 135 bushels. But it has been left for Mr. William Boudgarner, living near Lamotte, to excel all the rest—a field of ten acres averaged him over 140 bushels to the acre. This yield unquestionably surpasses anything in the

ANNALS OF FARMING.

It is true that it was cultivated with a special view to the Fair, but something in special to prevent its exhibition, and the result is now given to the public as an example of what the soil of this county is capable of producing when the farmer puts his mind to it. With such a capacity in Missouri soil, it seems strange that men can be found who are hunting new homes further West and South. Such a yield ought to satisfy any ordinary man.

NARROW GAUGE.

What Will Sedalia Do About It.

The time has come for the people of Sedalia to determine what they mean to do about the Warsaw and Sedalia Narrow Gauge railroad. If they want the road built and the trade of the southwest secured beyond peradventure, it is time they were taking some active steps to bring it about. If the Bazoos have been correctly informed, the directors is fully organized, and the subscription books are open to all those who feel like investing in what must be considered the most important enterprise which has ever

APPEALED TO OUR PEOPLE.

So far as Sedalia is concerned, the building of this road is an absolute necessity. In no other way can the trade of the southwest be confirmed to us. Without it the present growth of Sedalia cannot be sustained. It must be apparent to our merchant and business men that other communities are watching what we do with jealous eyes. If we slip up, they are sure to come in and win. We have only fifteen miles of grading to do, and there is plenty of capital lying idle to do it with, if those who control it will only make up their minds to invest it. It is not too much to say that this enterprise compares to Sedalia. Boston county rightly appreciating the situation, is leaving no stone unturned to do her part of the work. Surely this town can do no less. Indeed it is matter about which there should be no two opinions. With this road completed Sedalia has a fortune before it which will be the pride of the people. It will give us a growing and valuable trade, and all the elements which go to make up a prosperous city. With such incentives, there should be no backwardness in the enterprise. Men who are able should not only take hold of it in earnest, but should esteem it a privilege to do so.

THE DISTINCTION OF LIFE AND DEATH

SLENDING MARKETS.

THE JOPLIN TRAGEDY.

Young McCoy Carried Off by a Co-gestive Chill.

The Joplin News in announcing the death of young McCoy, previously noted in the Bazoos, says:
"It is with profound sorrow that we, to-day, announce the death of R. S. McCoy, which occurred this morning at 8 o'clock. He had been recovering quite rapidly from his wound as well as from an attack of bilious fever until yesterday evening, when he showed signs of weakness which greatly alarmed his friends. About midnight he was attacked with a convulsive chill and expired this morning in spite of the best medical assistance that could be procured. His wound was healing fast, all danger from that source was over, and he would not doubt have entirely recovered but for the fatal chill."

The Democrats Win a Splendid Victory.

Bishop Elected.

The State Carried by Twenty Thousand Majority.

Legislature Democratic.

Stanley Mathews Gives Way to a Democratic Sena or

The news from Ohio indicates a glorious Democratic victory. In all parts of the State the Democratic gains have been large in excess of any previous election, and the latest dispatches from Cincinnati place Bishop's majority (the Democratic candidate for Governor) at fully

TWENTY THOUSAND.

The Democratic stronghold of Hamilton, Cuyahoga and Lucas, give immense majority, notwithstanding the opposition made by the Workingmen's ticket. It was expected that in Cincinnati, Toledo and Cleveland, this opposition would be mainly felt by the Democrats, but the result has shown that the Republicans felt the drain the most severely. The Greenbackers scarcely made any showing at all. Those who felt most inclined to the movement very properly concluded that as it was in a hopeless minority, the only effect of their votes would be to diminish the chances of Democratic success without adding in any appreciable degree to their own movement. The Greenbackers, therefore, largely voted

THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

It also became evident several days before the election that the Workingmen's enthusiasm was rapidly abating, while the sentiment which it represented was rapidly crystallizing around the Democratic party. This was largely attributable to the fact that the Republicans were evasive on the silver question. They had spread their net to catch all the opposition element and caught none. The Workingmen's strength in Cincinnati was found almost entirely in Republican wards, and which aided materially to give the city, by an increased majority, to the Democratic ticket. The result in Ohio may, therefore, be considered a and its influence upon the November states will, there is reason to believe, be marked and gratifying. The Legislature being Democratic in both branches secures a Democratic successor to Stanley Mathews in the Senate. The next Congress will, therefore, open with two Democratic Senators from Ohio, and present indications are strongly favorable for an additional one from Pennsylvania. Taking it all in all, the victory in Ohio is one of the grandest achievements the Democratic party has ever won.

DETERMINATIVE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

A GOOD MOVE.

The Citizens of Heath Creek Moving for a Road.

To the Editor of the Sedalia News:
At a meeting held at Hopewell church, on the 6th inst., Judge Newland was called to the chair, and Jno. R. Rittenhouse made secretary.

The chair stated the object of the meeting, to take into consideration the present deplorable condition of the Pin Hook road, and to devise some measures to work it. After remarks by several citizens, the following preamble and resolutions were submitted and adopted.

WHEREAS, that part of the Pin Hook or Longwood and Sedalia road, from Hopewell church to Sedalia, is in a very bad condition, and almost impassable for vehicles of every description; and

WHEREAS, there are several places on the said road unfit for the location of a public highway. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is imperatively necessary to the interests of owners of real estate on, and contiguous to, the said road and the safety of public travel, that it should be immediately worked, and if possible the location so changed as to make it a benefit instead of a nuisance.

Resolved, That in order to carry out the spirit of the aforesaid resolution a committee of five active, energetic and interested citizens be appointed, who shall take the whole matter in hand and prosecute, without delay, such measures which will accomplish the aforesaid result, and that they are hereby authorized to use our names in petitioning the county court for such assistance as they may see fit to ask for.

Resolved, That the aforesaid committee be hereby directed to call out all the hands interested in the work, and to view and lay out the work before hand, and that they be requested where work cannot be obtained to solicit subscriptions in money.

The following committee were appointed: Jno. R. Rittenhouse, D. M. Williams, D. H. Oren, Oliver Ellmore and N. H. Gentry.

The committee will meet on the 11th to view the road, and will give notice immediately thereafter of the time to work. It is to be hoped that every interested person will be represented either in person or by money; viz: two dollars for each hand and team.

Don't stay at home and have your neighbor complain that you did not do your duty. Remember that if we all turn out we will have a road, and without we may expect to reap the disadvantages of being cut off from market etc.
